

GRAVE COMPLICATION WITH ENGLAND FEARED OVER MEXICAN CRISIS

AMBASSADOR PAGE NEGOTIATES WITH BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE IN REGARD TO PRESENT SITUATION.

CRITICISM IN LONDON

Newspapers Declare Wilson Has Ground for Complaint on England's Hasty Recognition of Huerta Government.

Washington, Oct. 22.—Diplomatic exchange between Ambassador Page and the British foreign office with regard to Great Britain's attitude in Mexico are likely to continue. Indications that the British minister to Mexico does not hold views in sympathy with American policy to topple the Huerta government have caused concern to the Washington government and while some officials declare that they are not seeking European support at this time, it was made plain that they did not desire the factor should be injected into the situation at present from Europe that would in any way impede the efforts of the United States to deal with the Mexican problem.

Should Administration take the view that as the "nearest neighbor" to Mexico, the United States should have a free hand in trying to bring about a pacification. It is not unlikely, therefore, that the reported statement of the British minister that the United States will not understand conditions in Mexico, will be the subject of further inquiry, with the possibility that the episode may bring out important developments. Officials declined to discuss Ambassador Page's cablegrams, but their dissatisfaction with the attitude of Great Britain was not concealed. Diplomatic circles today took increased interest in the situation and some diplomats predicted that the outcome might influence American policy toward Great Britain in other questions pending.

Grave Misunderstanding. London, Oct. 22.—The newspapers are justifying the possibility of an embroilment between the United States and Great Britain over the Mexican situation. Their warnings, heretofore, have all emanated from Washington and New York correspondents and have been based on the information as made known in the United States through the Associated Press not having been published here. The Pall Mall Gazette today says: "There is evidently a grave misunderstanding between the two countries and the United States in regard to Mexican crisis which speedily should be removed. There are elements of danger in the situation which may easily arouse strong feeling on both sides of the Atlantic."

Grounds for Complaint. "It cannot be denied that President Wilson had some grounds for complaint against British policy in Mexico," says the Globe in commenting today on the Mexican situation. "The grave mistake was made by the British foreign office in its over hasty recognition of Huerta, which was in such marked contrast with its dignified delay in recognizing King Peter of Serbia."

The Globe advanced the view that the foreign office's attitude lends color to the suspicion that its policy is dictated rather by political considerations than by regard for the real interests of the nation.

German Cruiser Arrives. Vera Cruz, Mex., Oct. 22.—The S.S. Corcovado with General Felix Diaz on board and the German protected cruiser Hertha arrived here almost at the same moment this morning. The Hertha anchored within the walls of the fortress of San Juan de Ulua, not two hundred yards from the Corcovado. After the Corcovado had been inspected by the port authorities a boat put off from the Hertha and set two German officers on the steamer on which Gen. Diaz had made the voyage here.

Greeting for Diaz. As a result of the display of a force of rural guards only a small group of partisans of General Diaz gathered to greet their leader. At eight o'clock Diaz had not yet landed, owing to a series of delays said to have been caused by the formalities of the port authorities. The sending of the German officers on board the Corcovado is explained by the fact that she is a German vessel and the commander of the Hertha intended to see that Gen. Diaz was not molested so long as he remained on board.

French Ship to Mexico. Brest, France, Oct. 22.—The French armored cruiser Conde was ordered today to take on board ammunition and coal and proceed as quickly as possible to Mexico.

Japan Not Interested. Tokyo, Japan, Oct. 22.—The Japanese foreign office today declared that no Japanese war ships will be sent to Mexico.

Ruling on Exports. Washington, Oct. 22.—The treasury department notified all customs officers that the export to Mexico of riding saddles, stirrups, girths, hay and other food stuffs and horses may be permitted as not in violation of the new prohibition of March 14, 1912. This instruction follows a decision of Attorney General McKeey who was asked whether such articles "intended for the Mexican federal army or for other purposes are munitions of war."

Arrest Two Maderos. Mexico City, Oct. 22.—Daniel and Evaristo Madero, brothers of the late president, have been arrested at Monterrey charged with complicity in a plot to turn over that city to revolutionaries, according to dispatches in the newspapers here.

The two brothers are said to have been compromised by documents taken from dead rebels after a fight near Monterrey.

Attended Convention. S. M. Smith, A. E. Bincham and Frank Jackson were in Lake Mills today attending the annual convention of Group 5 of the Bankers' Association of the state.

ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS CONFERENCE OPENS

Twenty-eight Countries Represented at Great Meeting in Berlin—Friedman Absent.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Berlin, Oct. 22.—Twenty-eight countries are represented by delegates at the 11th International Anti-Tuberculosis Conference which opened here today and will remain in session until Sunday. One of the most interesting features of the conference will be the reports from the various countries represented as to the methods employed for waging war upon tuberculosis and the results achieved by these methods. Although no positive "cure" for the disease can be reported, encouraging progress will be recorded toward the control of the disease by natural restorative means, food and fresh air, and by modern methods of sanitation, disinfection and isolation. Dr. F. F. Friedman, the alleged discoverer of a curative serum, did not apply for a place upon the program and it is expected that no great enthusiasm will be manifested by the delegates to the conference concerning his tubercle serum. The delegates are expected to have an opportunity to see and to examine the patients on whom Dr. Friedman based his original claims of success.

STATUE OF KEOKUK DEDICATED IN IOWA

D. A. R. Have Charge of Exercises in Memory of Black Hawk War Chief.

Keokuk, Ia., Oct. 22.—Members of the daughters of the American Revolution from all parts of Illinois, Missouri and Iowa, attended the dedication here today of the statue in memory of Chief Keokuk, of Black Hawk fame, for whom this city is named. With Mrs. William C. Shaw of New York, president of the general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, in attendance, Iowa members have arranged for the most important conference ever held by the society in this state. Other prominent people who were present in the dedication ceremony were Dr. Frank Wyman of the Department of Indian Affairs, and Mrs. H. R. Howell, state regent D. A. R. John Keokuk of Oklahoma, great-grandson of the Indian chief, and a representative from the Sac and Fox tribes, over which Chief Keokuk ruled while in his prime. In connection with the unveiling of the statue, a tablet in memory of the early Iowa trails will be dedicated.

The statue of Chief Keokuk is of bronze, ten feet in height, resting on a base fifteen feet high. It is the work of Miss Nellie V. Walker, an Iowa girl, now living in Chicago. Great care was taken in the reproduction of Chief Keokuk's dress, and Miss Walker made frequent trips to the Smithsonian institute and to numerous historical societies throughout the central states in order to give a correct picture of the Indian as he lived.

The bones of Chief Keokuk were buried recently under the statue. They were brought here a number of years ago from Ottawa, Kansas. When first found the skull and a number of bones of the arm were missing, but later the skull was discovered in a white man's lodge at Ottawa, where it was being used in an initiation ceremony.

Historians write that Keokuk moved his nation west of the Missouri and other chief in America. In points of natural intellect, integrity of character and the capacity to govern and without a superior among Indians.

Born on Rock River. Keokuk was born on the Rock River in the northwestern part of Illinois about 1781. While still a youth he joined a war party against the Sioux, and it was the spear of Keokuk that brought the Sioux chieftain to the ground in death. During the second war with Great Britain a rumor reached the Sac and Fox tribe that the United States had sent an army to destroy the Indian village of Peoria on the Illinois river, and that the plan eventually was to destroy the entire Sac and Fox nation. The Indians were panic stricken and decided to abandon their villages. Keokuk is said to have been the one cool man among them. He urged the braves to hold together in one body and follow his command.

The sturdy young Sac aroused the braves to a spirit of fight, and his speech at that time made him their chief. The rumor proved a false one, but Keokuk remained the leader. Made memorable speech. Later when Black Hawk urged the Sac and Fox to war against the whites, Keokuk made what is considered his most memorable speech. He said that he would lead them against the whites on one condition and that was that they should put their women and children to death and then resolve that, having crossed the Mississippi, they would never return, but perish among the graves of their fathers rather than yield them to the white man.

WILL OF MRS. EATON FIGURES IN TRIAL

Document Found After Admiral's Death Is Described in Today's Testimony.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Plymouth, Mass., Oct. 22.—A typewritten paper found in the home of Rear Admiral Joseph C. Eaton, a few days after his death was described as the will of Mrs. Jennie Mae Eaton, the widow, by state officer John H. Scott, in his testimony today at the trial of Mrs. Eaton.

Under the terms of the decree all property was bequeathed to Mrs. Eaton's elder daughter, Mrs. June Keyes. The paper was uncompleted and unsigned. Officer Scott was unable to give its date and could tell only its substance. Previous reference to this document was made last week during the testimony of Mrs. Eaton's younger daughter, Dorothy Ainsworth. The prosecution contended that since Dorothy had testified that she and her mother were the only members of the family who could operate a typewriter and that she had not written it, it was fair for the jury to infer who was the author. The police investigation of Admiral Eaton's death was the subject of most of Scott's testimony.

WILSON SIGNS BILL CARRYING EXEMPTION FROM CIVIL SERVICE

President Explains His Attitude in Approving Urgent Deficiency Measure.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Oct. 22.—President Wilson today signed the urgent deficiency bill carrying exemptions from the civil service of deputy United States marshals and collectors of internal revenue. The president gave out the following memorandum: "I am convinced after a careful examination of the fact that the officers of deputy collectors and deputy marshals were never intended to be included under the ordinary provisions of the civil service law. The control of the whole method and spirit of the administration of the provision in this bill which concerns the appointment of these offices is no less entirely in my hands now than it was before the bill became law; my warm advocacy and support both of the principle and of the bona fide practice of civil service reform is known to the whole country and there is no danger that the spoils principle will creep in with my approval or connivance."

FORTOLA FESTIVAL IN SAN FRANCISCO

Program Arranged to Specially Honor Vasco Nunez de Balboa, Discoverer of Pacific Ocean.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 22.—With guests in attendance from many parts of the world, San Francisco today began her second Fortola festival under conditions that promise one of the most magnificent carnivals ever held in America. While the festival retains the name of Don Gaspar Fortola, discoverer of the Bay of California under Spanish rule, the program has been arranged with a view to specially honoring the memory of Vasco Nunez de Balboa, the Spanish adventurer and soldier, who, four hundred years ago last month, climbed the peak in Darien and viewed the Pacific Ocean.

One of the spectacular features of the carnival will be a reproduction of the arrival of St. Francis Drake, in his ship, the Golden Hind, which landed a few miles north of the Golden Gate, and on June 17, 1579, took possession of the country in the name of Queen Elizabeth.

MAY HAVE MURDERER OF IDA G. LEEGSON

William Seward Cox, a Negro, Arrested at Joliet Today, as He Was Leaving City.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Oct. 22.—A Negro in whom the police rest their greatest hopes of identifying the slayer of Miss Ida G. Leegson, was arrested at Joliet today as he was walking along the railroad tracks on his way out of town. The man gave his name as William Seward Cox, although he was known among Joliet negroes as Van Albright and Captain Hain, and of detectives began searching for Cox yesterday and last night he feared the negro had eluded him.

"Let me go, let me go," the prisoner is said to have exclaimed when the detectives crowded in on him. "I didn't kill her."

Baker of Milwaukee, chairman of the progressive party state central committee, formally withdrew as the new party's candidate for governor. Mr. Pattison was selected as the party's candidate at a conference of state leaders held this spring.

The letter of withdrawal repeated his faith in the progressive party, business reasons being given as the cause of his unwillingness to give his time at present to politics.

Your Money Back

If

What a pleasure it is to do business with merchants who deal the modern way.

No "ifs," "buts," or "maybes" anything open and above board. No pitfalls for the unwary.

Did you ever stop to think what a part advertising has played in bringing about this state of affairs?

Advertising is daylight merchandising. It is open and above board selling.

The most trustworthy merchants are those who advertise. They start out by frankly telling the public what they have to sell.

They keep faith. It is to your profit to patronize the merchants who advertise in the daily newspapers like The Gazette.

They tell what they have to offer in the way of goods or service. You can weigh the words of the advertisers at your leisure. You can compare their claims. You can go where it best suits your pleasure. You buy to the best advantage when you get your money's worth.

FRIENDS OF INDIAN AND FILIPINO MEET

Sessions of Lake Mohonk Conference to be Presided Over by Chancellor Elmer Brown.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Lake Mohonk, N. Y., Oct. 22.—The thirty-first annual meeting of the Lake Mohonk Conference of Friends of the Indian and Other Dependent Peoples assembled today with a large attendance of philanthropists, educators, public officials and others interested in the welfare of the Indians, Filipinos and other peoples over whom the United States Government has been placed in a position of guardianship. The sessions will continue to and including Friday evening and will be presided over by Dr. Elmer E. Brown, chancellor of New York University.

The Philippine discussions will deal with questions of administration, the independence issue raised by the Jones bill, and the treatment of the Moros and other pagan tribes of the islands. The discussions relating to the American Indians will embrace a comprehensive inquiry into conditions among the so-called Five Civilized Tribes of Oklahoma, revealed last winter while Congress was devoting attention to the subject. Particular attention will be paid to the protection of the Indians from ruthless exploitation.

PRINCETON HONORS GROVER CLEVELAND

Memorial Tower to Distinguished Son is Dedicated Today—New Graduate College Ready.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 22.—Princeton University, graduate college and the Grover Cleveland memorial tower, which is included in the architectural scheme of the college buildings, were dedicated today in the presence of a distinguished company of learned men from Europe and America. Gifts amounting to $2,350,000 for the erection and endowment of the college enabled Princeton to realize an idea conceived twenty years ago—the housing of graduate students in a body. The tower was presented to the university by the Cleveland Memorial Association, which received gifts for the memorial fund from all over the United States.

Former President Taft's estimate of Grover Cleveland as expressed in his oration in Indianapolis as follows: "Mr. Cleveland was not a great lawyer; he was not a great orator; but he was a great president and a great man; and he was these because of the strong mind, clear intelligence and high commonsense of the man. He had the character, honesty, courage and sense of public duty which enabled him to meet great and critical issues without regard to personal consequences."

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, Oct. 22.—Delegates from thirty foreign countries and from all over the United States began arriving here today to take part in the triennial world's convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, which will begin Friday in the Academy of Music, Brooklyn, and continue until Oct. 28th.

Two "white ribbon" specials from Chicago and Birmingham, Ala., brought several hundred from the west and south and many more poured in from near-by cities on the regular trains. Incoming steamships brought others. Lady Aurea Howard of England heads a delegation of forty "white ribboners" from that country. Boy scouts acted as escorts for the visitors.

The formal opening of the convention is to be preceded by committee meetings tonight and by devotional services at Plymouth church, Brooklyn tomorrow.

BODES NO SUCCESS TO PANKHURST TOUR

Gloomy Reception to English Suffragette at Opening Engagement at New York is Most Disconcerting.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, Oct. 22.—Following the gloomy and altogether disconcerting reception to Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst in her first engagement in the United States at Madison Square Garden last evening, her managers were charged but not wholly pessimistic today. They feel confident that the American women interested in the cause will rally more enthusiastically at the future lectures.

Disappointed at Crowd. There was disappointment for Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant leader from London, who was released from Ellis island on Monday, and signs of regret from the Madison Square Garden management when Mrs. Pankhurst came on the stage Tuesday night to make her first public appearance of her present tour before an audience that in point of numbers fell far below expectations.

Early in the highest of the galleries, where the seats before 50 cents, there were few vacant spots to be seen. In the dollar seats on the tier below only a fraction of the chairs were taken. The $1.50 seats held only a straggling contingent, and of the great oval boxes around the arena only four were occupied before Mrs. Pankhurst was introduced.

The main floor of the garden had been paved with chairs in close rows selling at $2.50 and $2. The small section of $2.50 seats directly in front of the platform were fairly well filled, but on the entire floor there were perhaps three times as many empty chairs as there were occupied seats.

Numbers Less Than 3,000. Instead of a crowd of about 12,000, which was the number of the Garden forces had said could be seated, there were not more than 3,000 persons in the great building. Many who have had experience in judging the size of audiences put the number at lower than 3,000.

Wherefore, when Charles Edward Russell, who is the socialist candidate for mayor, was in the middle of his speech introducing Mrs. Pankhurst, he was interrupted by an uproar as the people fell up near the roof began to shuffle down the seats to the $2.50 seats so that they would be sure of being near enough to the platform to hear a woman's voice.

Mrs. Pankhurst and Mrs. O. H. Belmont, who had come into the hall together, sat down in the front row, looking on passively until the last of the fifty centers had found a place right up close.

Mr. Russell went on with his address and Mrs. Pankhurst came forward and delivered with the easy grace of word and gesture and a voice so clear and far-reaching that it came as a great surprise to those who had heard only her gentle spoken, well bred conversational tones at Ellis island on previous days.

Mrs. Pankhurst, as had been expected, said nothing in her long address that would warrant either official interruption or interruption of any other kind than the generous applause that greeted her words time and time again. She did not advise militancy in America, and she did not condemn our governmental interference with her landing last Saturday.

Instead, she had only words of praise for the treatment she had received at Ellis island, the kindness of employers there, and of the excellent management of the island in general.

She had high praise for President Wilson, for the firm but gentle way in which American women have got on, and are getting the vote, and therefore the lack of any need for militancy in America.

Then she launched into a speech about the militant movement in England and decried the ultra conservatism of parliament and country where drastic methods, she said, were resorted to only because "revolution" and violence were positively a last resort.

SYLVA PANKHURST IS RELEASED FROM JAIL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Oct. 22.—Sylvia Pankhurst was released under license today from Holloway jail. She is much enfeebled and emaciated in consequence of a hunger strike of a week's duration. She was arrested on October 14 as she was about to enter the Poplar town hall to address a meeting of militant suffragettes. The previous night Miss Pankhurst was the central figure of a heroic struggle between the police and a crowd of suffragettes after she had addressed a gathering at Bow Baths in the east end of London.

BOND INCOME TAXES ON INDIAN PROBLEM

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Oct. 22.—It was learned in financial circles here today that many if not all of the big corporations themselves will pay the income tax on bond regardless of where the bonds are held.

One big corporation already has made this announcement and another one which is among the largest public utility organizations in the world, will do so in a few days. Others, it is said, will follow their lead.

This plan is not one of philanthropy, but is said to be the simplest way of satisfying the technicalities of the income law.

STATE CLUB WOMEN MEET AT SHEBOYGAN IN ANNUAL SESSION

Nearly Four Hundred Delegates at Convention Which Opens With Addresses of President, Mrs. Strathearn.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Sheboygan, Wis., Oct. 22.—The 17th annual convention of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's Clubs convened in this city at 9:30 o'clock this morning with upwards of 350 delegates in attendance besides speakers of note from Milwaukee, Chicago, Elgin, and other points.

Mrs. Strathearn Presides. The convention was called to order in the open house by Mrs. J. A. Strathearn of Kaukauna and after a musical number and the invocation the address of welcome was made by Mrs. Frederick Koehn of the Sheboygan Women's Club.

The response was made by Mrs. L. D. Harvey of Menomonie, who gracefully acknowledged the welcome and said the members of the federated clubs had looked forward with great pleasure to the visit of Sheboygan. Her remarks were followed by the address of the state president, Mrs. J. A. Strathearn.

Reports of Officers. The reports of the officers then followed. Mrs. Ben Becker of Ashland, the recording secretary, submitting her annual report. The items in her report were interesting and dealt with the growth of the state federation of clubs.

In the afternoon session Mrs. J. M. Hogan of Fond du Lac presented her report on charities and corrections. She is the trustee officer at Fond du Lac and a member of the board of directors of the Associated Charities of her home city, and was named by Gov. McGovern to represent Wisconsin at the national conference of charities and corrections held in Seattle recently.

Miss Susan McGorrick of Chicago used delicious addresses.

The Wisconsin Federation of Women's Clubs convened at 9:30 o'clock with 305 delegates present and prospects of this number being increased to 400 during the day. Matters to be discussed by the convention can be briefly summed up as follows: Amend the by-laws to allow the admission of mixed clubs; plans for the extension loan fund department; the appointment of committees for the coming year; the economy in line with the suggestions of the general federation.

The convention will take steps to endorse the work of the world's purety federation. Efforts will be made to secure the passage of the woman's suffrage in as much as this is an off year in Wisconsin for an election.

CAPTAIN STREETER WILL RESUME FIGHT

Once Famous Defender of "Streeterville" Announces That He Will Hold Contested Property.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Captain George Wellington Streeter is back again in Streeterville, ready to hold the "dump" against all comers. This fact became known today with the filing of papers in the case, which has grown in intricacy during the years, in which the various claimants have attempted to oust the captain.

"Streeterville" was made by accretions of sand on the lake shore north of the river and by the dumping of refuse. Twenty years ago the captain and his first wife, Mary, found there from the old scow in which they made their home and made claim to the land as squatters.

Holders of lake front property laid claim to the land as growth of the city of Chicago. The captain and his resources were forced to fight off, many times by the display of firearms. Eventually the captain established a "military government" to legalize his resistance, and hired watchmen.

Twenty years ago in one of the numerous conflicts with deputies, William Kirk, a watchman employed by one of the rival claimants, was killed, and Streeter and two of his aides were sentenced to life imprisonment for the crime.

Eventually he was freed by the courts and now on legal advice he is back again. The land is worth millions of dollars.

The legal entanglements of the case are exceedingly involved and final adjudication apparently lies far in the future. Mary Streeter died about six years ago and the captain since has married again. Streeter's present wife, who is many years his junior, is assisting her husband in the present fight.

START BIG DEBATE ON INDIAN PROBLEM

Mohawk Lake Conference Opens With Friends of Indians Divided into Opposing Camps.

Mohawk Lake, N. Y., Oct. 22.—Divergent views of the capability of the American Indian started a debate today that in one form or another will reach congress. It marked the opening of the annual conference of friends of the Indians and other dependent peoples.

Some of the delegates believed that the Indian still was a child and that the federal government had grossly neglected him. Others, apparently a minority, believed that the American Indian tribes should be released altogether from government supervision, left to take the responsibility of their own warfare and pay the price if they failed.

There was expressed also an urgent demand for taking Indian affairs out of politics and putting them in the care of a non-partisan commission.

MRS. ELIZA FIFIELD ANSWERS LAST CALL

Resident of Janesville for Forty-Eight Years, Passed Away Early
This Morning.

Mrs. Eliza F. Fifield, widow of Thomas B. Fifield, and a resident of Janesville for the last forty-eight years, passed away at her home, 218 Washington street, at 4:30 o'clock this morning. She had been failing for the last few months, but was confined to her bed only for about three weeks.
Her death was due to a general break-down consequent to old age.
Mrs. Fifield was born at Montpelier, Vermont, July 4, 1827, being the daughter of Arannah and Melitabie Dodge—Waterman. Her father, Aran-nah Waterman, was one of the prominent men of Vermont in his time, a representative for Montpelier in the state legislature, state senator, and judge of the county court. Mrs. Fi-field was educated at Montpelier and Montreal, Canada. She came west about 1850 and taught in the schools at Joliet, Ill., and at Orlinville, this state. She visited in Janesville with her cousin, the late Volney Atwood, and in January, 1865, married Thomas Fifield, whom she had known all her life and had worked for her father in Vermont.
Three children were born to this marriage. Charles L. Fifield, judge of the Rock county court, Emily May Fi-field, who died at the age of seventeen, and Dr. George W. Fifield of this city. Her husband, Thomas B.
Fifield, died in 1882.
Ever since her marriage Mrs. Fi-field lived in Janesville, and for the last forty years at 218 Washington street. During the last few years, a cousin, Mrs. Charlotte McFarland, has lived with her and been her constant companion. Mrs. Fifield's chief pleasure in her later life for her children and grandchildren, but she always kept up her interest in her church and current events. She was a great reader and student of affairs and was clear headed and strong to the end. She was a woman of great strength of character and fine ideals, a lover of out-door life, and trained her family to acquire the same tastes. She was a member of the Congregational church during the entire period of her residence in Janesville.
Funeral services will be held at her late residence at 2 p. m. Friday, Dr. David Beaton, will conduct the services. Her request was that friends do not send flowers.

Ludwig Ness.
Miss Jessie M. Foster received a message yesterday, announcing the death of Ludwig Ness at Oakland, California, where he had resided since 1910. Ludwig Ness graduated from the State School for Blind, in the class of 1906. He was a bright scholar, possessing a good mind, and character, which was evidenced by his love and confidence of all who knew him.
Dependent upon his own resources
he went to work as a piano-tuner, finding employment in one of the large music houses at Oakland, where he soon became a favorite. In 1910 he had the misfortune to step into an open elevator shaft and a moment later his mangled body was picked up dead, but a spark of life remained, and for a moment at the hospital he fought and won, but the accident left him maimed and crippled, and tuberculosis found him an easy victim. His death occurred October 4th, after months of patient suffering.

Mary Cathryn Sheridan.
Mary Cathryn Sheridan, nine year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sheridan, 333 South Academy street, passed away at her home last evening at eight-thirty o'clock. She had been sick but a short time, appendicitis being her affliction. Besides a father and mother, she leaves three brothers, Edward, Frances and James and one sister, Anna. She celebrated

Heart to Heart Talks

By CHARLES N. LURIE

RIGHT ABOUT FACE!

They need the sharp stimulus of a positive command to face about—the folks who live in the past and let the years that have gone govern the present.

Of such are those who hug their grief until it becomes part of themselves. The fusion is not and cannot be complete, and the body of the living acquires and retains resemblance to the dead.

When time has made of your grief
the sacred memory that it should become, in time—

Bury it.
No man, no woman, has the right to live in the constant, cold, chilling shadow of a sorrow that is long past. Get out into the sunshine of the present.

If you must cherish your grief, if you feel that it is a tribute forever due to the memory of the lost, seek out others of more recent bereavement and share their sorrow. The benevolence will help you to bear your own trials and will alleviate theirs.

In 1898 the French steamer La Bourgogne was lost at sea. More than 500 persons were drowned in one of the worst marine disasters in history.
Many persons in America and Europe lost loved ones who were among the passengers and crew.

Now, many years after the wreck,
when it requires an effort of memory
on the part of most persons to remember it, every day an old, old gentleman goes to the pier of the steamship line in New York to ask whether La Bourgogne has arrived. The ship lies at the bottom of the ocean, but still he puts his pathetic question daily.

His wife and his son were on the vessel and were never heard from.
They are dead beyond the possibility of a doubt, yet still the husband and father asks for them.

It is sorrowful, of course. We must sympathize with the old man's grief.
In his case it is the expression of a dis-ordered mind.

But in many others the cherishing of a grief that should have received decent interment years before is the outward and visible manifestation of a weakness of the will, of an inability, real or assumed, to face the world bravely.

"Sorrow's crown of sorrow is remembering happy things," says Tennyson.
But it is a crown of thorns, not of gold.

Silver.
Whenever silver has become scratched make it smooth by rubbing it well with a piece of chamois leather that has been rolled into a tight ball and dipped in sweet oil.

Belief That Endures.
What keeps politics going is the belief every man entertains that he can fully satisfy the public, in spite of the fact that nobody ever did it.

They So Seldom Do.
What a woman likes about reading over old love letters is how queer it would seem now if any of it had come true.—New York Press.

Free from Catarrh

Mr. John O. Atkinson

Mr. John O. Atkinson, No. 1359 North Emporia Ave., Wichita, Kas., writes
under date of January 10, 1917:
"I wrote you about my case of catarrh. I had been of twenty-five years standing. At times I was almost past going.
I commenced to use Peruna according to your instructions and continued its use for about a year, and it has completely cured me. Your remedies do all that you claim for them and even more. Catarrh cannot exist where Peruna is taken according to directions." (See "Ills of Life," sent free by the Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio.)

In a later letter dated January 1, 1920, Mr. Atkinson says, after five years experience with Peruna: "I will ever continue to speak a good word for Peruna. In my rounds as a traveling man I am a walking advertisement for Peruna, and have induced many people during the past year to use Peruna with the most satisfactory results. I am still free from catarrh."
Those who object to liquid medicines can now procure Peruna Tablets.

SPORT Snap-Shots

Where are the long-haired pigskin warriors of yesterday? Gone, gone are all the old familiar flowing locks, thick and bushy, the pride of many a college youth. They are no more. It used to be, and it wasn't so very long ago either, that the comic weeklies in the fall were full of pictures of young men in football gear whose heads were covered with a luxuriant growth that occupied the biggest part of the picture. But this is no longer the case. The headgear was a thing unknown in the days when they let their hair grow and that explains it. They had to wear all that hair in order that their skulls be given some protection from the blows and beating so often received in a real lively football game. Nowadays with the hard leather headgear the superabundance of the hair has been done away with. In fact, with the helmets in use at present the less hair a player merely wanted him for his value as a drawing card. Others suggest that Muggsy, had a real hunch when he signed the athletic champ and that Thorpe went into it all those who have been with him the season round and have watched him work and practice declare that he has shown wonderful improvement, and that by the middle of next season he will be in the thick of it and winning lots of games for the Giants. His speed on the bases and his throwing are way ahead of the average big leaguer. Thorpe joined the Giants he knew practically nothing of baseball as he was played in the major leagues. He has learned to field in a manner that is exceedingly presentable. At hat he is yet a little weak, due to his anxiety to send the ball far into the offing. He will learn to wait on the good ones, however. And there are lots of us who would like to see him develop into a regular champ in the diamond.

The members of the Giants and Athletics have set a record at Annapolis for the season. It has been estimated that the O. K. King makes something like $21.10 every minute of the day awake or otherwise. During the world's series the Athletics who knocked down the big end of the receipts were earning something like $51.74 every minute of play. The Giants didn't earn as large wages of course, but they did make something like $34.49 a minute during the series. The Athletics were handed $32.44 and played just 627 minutes and the Giants who played the same length of time got envelopes containing $2,162. Figure it out for yourself. Any ball player should be pleased with the honor of playing in the world's series.

CANTILLON TO STAY WITH MINNEAPOLIS

Denies Rumor That He Would Take Up Leadership of Kansas City Next Year.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 22.—Joe Cantillon puts an effective kibosh on the rumor floating around that he might leave Minneapolis and take over the leadership of the Kansas City club. In a telegram received today Pong says that as he has no notion of canning himself he will be on the job as usual next year.

The rumor makers have been busy with the Minneapolis club ever since the close of the playing season. One story had it that Cantillon brothers and George Tebeau were figuring on a deal whereby the local baseball men were to take over the Kansas City club at a fancy figure. President M. E. Cantillon entered a strenuous denial of that story.

Another yarn was to the effect that the Minneapolis and Kansas City owners were to swap properties, but this was also denied by the local club owners, who declared Tebeau's long stay around Minneapolis in August was merely a vacation trip by the Kaw magnate.

STATE TITLE GAME PROMISES THRILLS

Beloit and Lawrence's Eleven Will Fight for Honors on Appleton Gridiron on Saturday.

Beloit, Wis., Oct. 22.—Coach Evans and his band of football warriors are putting in the most strenuous week in the history of the state line grid iron battles. This is due to the fact that the gold will meet their old and hardest enemies, Lawrence, on the Appleton field on Saturday.

The failure of Carroll to carry out his agreement and play Beloit last Saturday has given the Beloit men a chance to heal up all of their bruises and get a chance to see how some of his new plays would work. The name of a game has also caused the men to slow up and now they are playing rather listlessly.

Saturday's game with Lawrence should be a hard one. Last year the two teams played a 0 to 0 tie. Two years ago Lawrence won 10 to 0, and three years ago Beloit was the victor 9 to 0. The game will be practically settled the championship of the state because Ripon and Carroll are admittedly weaker than the contenders.

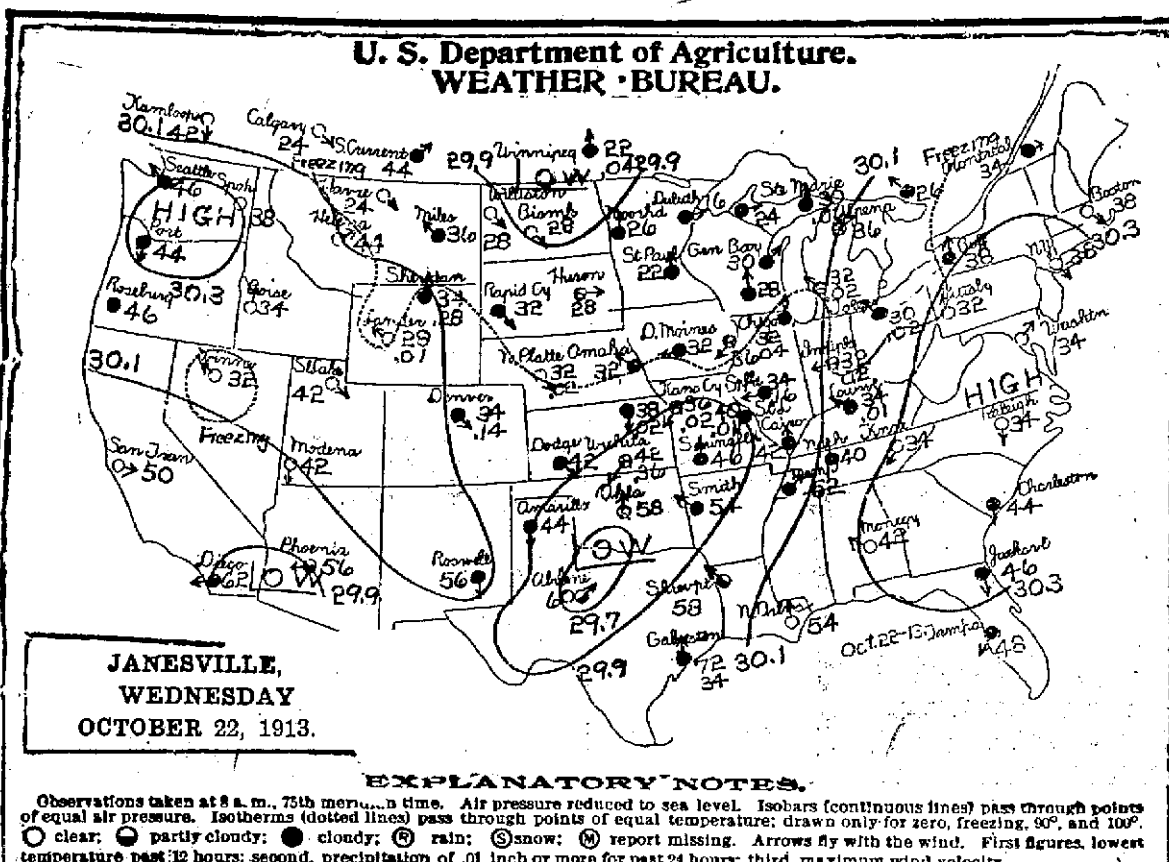

Coach Evans has been drilling his defense most of the week. The second team has been using the Lawrence plays and generally the Lawrence players have broken up the shift with great regularity, and the Metho dists will be compelled to spring some other pet play if they expect to defeat the Beloiters.

The gold team is lighter than the Appletonians, but they claim to possess more speed than their rivals. Coach Evans, as usual, shakes his head when asked about the result of the game, but the players are sure of a victory.

Beloit has scored 167 points in their two games played, and will meet Ripon at Beloit on Nov. 8. Alumni day in the final state game. They will play Northwestern college at Janesville, and Lake Forest, and home to wind up the season with a succession of wins.

Fights Scheduled for Tonight. Jack Sullivan vs. Gus Christie, 10 rounds, at Ford's. Pat vs. Drouillard vs. Steve Ketchel, 10 rounds, at Windsor, Ont.

Two, 50c bottles cured me of pneumonia. Thousands of other families have been equally benefited and depend entirely upon Dr. King's New Discovery to cure their coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. Every dose helps. HIGHS CONFIDENT OF DEFEATING BELOIT

Following Last Night's Gruelling Practice With Seconds, Curtis Expressed Favorable Opinion.

It happened several years ago, that Beloit defeated Janesville in basketball, and also in football, but ever since that time, the local teams, whatever they might have been, have been able to come back from behind. This old story is still living in the eyes of local fans and following last night's stiff scrimmage with the second string men, Coach Curtis remarked that the eleven was in prime shape, and best shape they have been in this season.

"If we do not defeat Beloit, we will be them, and that is saying a lot for Janesville," exclaimed local mentors today. "Beloit are good, but I think that by Saturday Janesville will be better."

A victory over Beloit is the talk of the local school, and to raise the Beloit eleven from participating in any title game is the local ambition. Last year's fullback from Oshkosh Normal, was on hand at practice yesterday, and he ran his old position with the high school seconds. His game is racey, and he is a whirlwind in a short time. The first string men were playing at their best.

It would not be surprising to see the majority of the student body attending Saturday's game. A mass meeting will be held Friday, to inspire the rooters, that a hard game is on, and several enthusiastic talks will be on the program for the meeting.

PLAN A HOMECOMING AT MINNESOTA GAME

Wisconsin Alumni Will Return in Hundreds for Big Game Nov. 1.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Oct. 22.—Elaborate plans for the Wisconsin homecoming at the time of the Minnesota game, November 1, are being made by committees. The class of 1909 is arranging a class reunion. Louis P. Lochner (chairman), Fred K. Hatch, E. Kartsh, Charles Mann, Miss Kate Trainor and Miss Stella Kayser have charge of the event. A dinner after the game will be held at Lathrop hall. A torchlight parade will be held on the night before the game. A parade of rooters will follow the game, and on Saturday night a smoker will be held in the gymnasium. A dance will follow a pre-game massmeeting. The singing of the Minnesota song will be a feature. The Minnesota colors will be mingled with the Cardinal in the decorations.

At the game special attractions will be provided between the halves, probably on the vaudeville order. Malcolm Bruce of Seattle is chairman of the homecoming committee.

Only Reasonable. A boy was observed dragging a fine looking but evidently weary dog along the street on a hot day. A kindly woman stopped the lad and offered to buy the dog for 50 cents. "Fifty cents, nothin!" came the indignant answer. "I want at least a dollar more for him. Why, his old master gave me $1 to take him away."

VIENNA

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

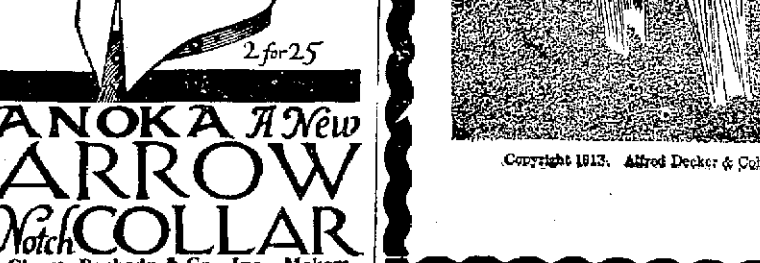

VIENNA is the capital and metropolis of Austria. It was formerly famous principally for its rolls, which must not be confused with the celebrated Dutch roll. However Vienna's press agents have been working nights and Sundays for the past twenty years and have now made it notorious for its beauty and its indifference to early closing hours.

Vienna has 1,500,000 people, none of whom go home until after midnight. Its chief productions are doctors, meerschaum pipes and comic opera. It is about as large as the west side of Chicago, but resembles Chicago in only one respect—it has streets. Vienna is situated on a branch line of the celebrated Danube river and has been there more or less ever since the Romans lusted the country in the first century A. D. Vienna, however, got its start during the Crusades, 700 years ago. It was the last place on the way to Jerusalem where a shave, a bath and a good drink could be obtained, and for almost a hundred years the Viennese hotels did a roaring business getting the Crusaders both going and coming.

Vienna is very old, but it only began waking up half a century ago. Since then it has filled itself with handsome buildings, handsome women and exceedingly melodious restaurants. It keeps the entire population of the city together with thousands of tourists, busy eight hours a night, listening to the strictly home made music produced in these restaurants, and whenever a waltz hearing the Vienna trademark is sent out it becomes popular before the orchestra has reached the first "repeat" mark.

Vienna was originally a small city, completely surrounded with walls, Pithy Postscript. A striking illustration of the saying that the pith of a lady's letter is in the postscript occurred in the case of a young lady who, having gone out to India, and writing home to her friends, concluded with the following words: "P.S.—You will see by my signature that I am married."

Immense Output of Linen. The 12,000,000 pounds worth of linen which is the average yearly output of the United Kingdom would wrap the earth at the equator seven times.

Amusements.

"THE TIK-TOK MAN OF OZ."

The Oliver Morosco production of the L. Frank Baum-Louis F. Gottschalk fairyland extravaganza, "The Tik-Tok Man of Oz" which is described by the author as a companion play to "The Wizard of Oz" will be the attraction at the Myers Theater on Saturday, October 25.

The story is told in two acts and a prologue, and scenic treat is promised. "The Tik-Tok Man of Oz" is a stage version of some of Mr. Baum's fairy tales of the mythical land of Oz, and has to do with the search by Betsy Bobbin, Hank, her pet mule, Tik-Tok, the clockwork man, Princess Ozma of Rosebud, Queen Ann and the Army of the Oogaboo, Polychrome, the daughter of the Rainbow and others of his delightful and fantastic characters, for the brother of the Shaggy Man, who is imprisoned in the domain of King Ruggedo, the Metal Monarch. The producer promises that it will unquestionably be the biggest extravaganza offering the native stage has known in years. The author, L. Frank Baum, has written a book that is quaint with humor and replete with comedy situations, and Louis F. Schertzinger.

SENTIMENT AND JUSTICE.
Julian Hawthorne's recent criticism of the federal prison at Atlanta has excited considerable discussion, and sentiment is divided on the question of how far sympathy should influence the degree of punishment for crime.

How new laws are humanitarian in character and some of them apply to the treatment of offenders who have been convicted and sentenced to servitude. In our own state the men serving jail sentences are practically paroled by the sheriff and sent out to work. The only punishment is a promise to be good, while on parole, and a demand that their earnings be turned over to the officer for safe keeping, or for the support of the family, if one exists. This is not a hardship, for the class of men affected are not frugal, as a rule, and they are better off financially, with a guardian, than without.

It is an open question as to how far it is safe to give this kind of humane treatment. If carried too far the tendency is to make a hero of criminals and a virtue of crime. The sentiment extends to our penitentiaries and is liberally exploited by the "Social Workers of the World."

The principle involved is much the same as is sometimes entertained for men who have reformed from the drink habit. In our eagerness to extend a helping hand, we are inclined to overlook the great rank and file of humanity who never become drunkards.

Unfortunate people who break the law may be entitled to sympathy, but the welfare of society demands punishment, and it should not be made a burlesque by maudlin sentiment.

SATIRICAL BRYAN.
Continued criticism of William Jennings Bryan, secretary of state in President Wilson's cabinet, for his chautauque lectures has caused him to ask the following pertinent question in his magazine, "The Commoner," which he would like to have answered. In plain words he wants a synonym for lecturing. He puts it in this way:

"A public official can practice law without offending the plutocrats—his fee is a retainer. A public official can even write for the newspapers and magazines and still be respectable—his compensation is described as an honorarium. Give us a word, please, which will mean the same as lecturing but will not grate on the sensitive nerves of the subsidized press!"

There is no doubt but that Secretary of State Knox or Attorney General Wickersham of Taft's cabinet neglected their official duties in Washington to deliver lectures, the editor of "The Commoner" would have cried out the loudest. But the tribune of the people, William Jennings Bryan, makes his while the sun shines, while advertising is good, and none must criticize.

WHY DID SHE COME?
Now that Mrs. Pankhurst has been safely landed, and awarded all of the privileges of the country, the people are anxious to know why she came, and what she expects to accomplish. She says the same is not here to talk militancy, but simply to create sympathy for the women of England.

She regards the condition of her own country women, as most deplorable, but just what she expects to accomplish by telling her story to American audiences is not stated.

Mrs. Pankhurst is a refugee from her own land, and it is very doubtful if she will be permitted to land on English soil, after completing her tour of this country. She came here from France, where she is an exile.

Her case is a little different from Carrie Nation, of prohibition hatchet fame, but she is a window smash just the same, and she will command about as much respect from the average American woman, as did the Kansas fanatic, a few years ago.

The state of Illinois is dominated by politics, as is evidenced by the election held for supreme judge, a day or two ago. Three candidates aspired to the office and while democracy won, it is of interest to note that the progressives played a poor third in spite of the support of suffragettes. The election comprised ten counties, which gave Roosevelt 36,000 votes in the national election.

The candidate for judge received about 8,000 votes in the election just held, while the republican candidate scored nearly twice that number. The prospect for absorbing the republican party in Illinois is not very flattering.

Congressman Mann of Illinois, the minority leader of the house, extorts currency will not be ready for passage before June next. He intimates that President Wilson does not fully understand the real methods of law-making when he insists that congress remain in session until the bill is passed. In fact, Mr. Mann battles between the lines and clearly holds the whip hand in the present situation. Republicans may be in a minority in Washington but they have enough votes and good hard common sense to prevent the passage of a bill that would work untold hardships upon the country as a whole.

If the present government policy continues the United States will be about equal to a third rate European power when it comes to settling the world's questions. With England dominating the great territory to the north, divided by an imaginary border land, the leading power in deciding the fate of Mexico, to the south, with but a river and a few posts to mark where the United States ends and Mexico begins, it would appear as though the government at Washington had slipped a cog somewhere and the machinery of state was not running as smoothly as expected.

The government has discovered that the new law, requiring all publishers of daily papers to print in circulation, every six months, is being evaded by false statements, and to remedy the evil, postoffice inspectors are sent out to examine the records. Parties found guilty are liable to fine and imprisonment. It don't pay to monkey with the buzz-saw.

The churches of Baltimore combined in an advertising campaign, and for the past nine months a page of Sunday announcements and well edited advertising matter has appeared in the Saturday issue of the Baltimore Sun. Results have been so satisfactory that the field will be enlarged, and the entire press of the city will aid in the campaign of publicity.

"I want plenty of good horse racing, chicken fighting and honest poker playing in my state," says Governor Bleasie. Judging by appearances, that's just what he is getting.

Possibly it would be different if Huerta had tamed the Mexican deputies to eat out of his hand in the way congress has been taught to do by Wilson.

Dr. Wiley says four-year-old whiskey can be made in forty seconds. Perhaps that's why it takes most of it only forty seconds to get in its work.

Senator Penrose says he favors a number of republican changes. For once, anyway, the senator is in accord with the majority of his party.

Cincinnati punishes its unruly girls by shaving their heads. Now, an English suffragist with her head—but it's too horrible to contemplate.

It will be noted that it was not the bride, but her sister, who cried herself to death at a Chicago wedding. This is a testimonial to marriage.

Young Mr. Astor will doubtless accept the $1,500 legacy as an indication that his Philadelphia uncle's heart was in the right place.

An eastern man, advertising for a wife, says he wants one with ideas. But he can't go wrong there, no matter whom he gets.

Why should England care who builds Germany's battleships so long as Count Zeppelin continues to build her airships?

Ex-Governor Sulzer is left free to hold any office of public trust that he can get himself elected to on his record.

On the Spur of the Moment

THE DIARY OF A BONEHEAD...
The Army.
Army life is simply grand, so a man would understand.

Judging from the pictures that they send from Washington. Advertising is immense, posters stuck upon the fence.

Get the youngster to believing that it's only fun.
Soldiers do just as they please; live a life of perfect ease.

Get a lot of travel that does not cost them a cent.
Naught to do but sleep and eat. Joy of living is complete.

Not a moment's worry over clothing, food and rest.
Proposition looks all right, army doesn't even fight.

Uncle Sam has got no scrap with any foreign power.
Soldiers simply loaf a lot with no chance of getting shot.

Lying in their hammocks reading by the hour.
Hoisting taters on the farm loses all its old time charm.

Bill Jones packs his satchel and he hikes out for the town.
Honey handed son of toil leaves the old parental soil.

Bound for ease and freedom and perhaps in time renown.
Bill, with other raw recruits, had to black the captain's boots.

Curry horses, scour the pans, act as chambermaid.
Drill all day with all his might, do guard duty late at night.

That's the way in times of peace the army game is played.
There's no loafing 'neath the trees; hard to find these hours of ease.

That the artist pictured in the poster on the fence.
There is not a chance to shirk, army life is much like work.

Some as any other walk of life in that one sense.
The Diary of a Bonehead.

When they threw open the doors of the new cafe in our town I fell for it the same as the rest. It is a nifty place and it cost a quarter to walk by on the sidewalk and smell the cooking.

When I sat down at the table the chocolate soldier in charge handed me a French menu. There is always something strange to me about a French menu in the hands of a Senegambian. I don't believe he knew anything more about it than I did.

I couldn't call off the bill of eats any better than he could. I asked him about several of the dishes and he expressed deep, dense ignorance.

Finally I selected nine dishes and looked good to me. The colored gentleman said he thought I had made a good selection and after being gone three-quarters of an hour he wheeled my order into the cafe on a tea cart.

It was then that I discovered that everything I had ordered was potatoes. There were potatoes in nine different styles of French cooking. I have only one thing to say in favor of the colored person. He didn't hang around waiting for a tip.

I haven't had the heart to look a potato in the face since and I am taking my meals at a one armed restaurant where one can order what he wants.

Sins of the Times.
There are times when it seems as though the life of the dramatic critic must be one long round of disappointments and wasted time. Seventy-five failures in New York last season.

English police stations have been equipped with billiard rooms and shooting galleries. English policemen must have some recompense for fighting suffragettes.

According to statistics, there are 17,000,000 old bachelors and old maids in this country. Old General Apathy has evidently got Cupid's job.

So long as people continue to look upon hay fever as a luxury instead of a disease, it will never make much headway in this country.

There is so much hot air in congress that the temperature in Washington will probably not cool off until long in January.

George Ade, who has been abroad, says Chicago is like Berlin. Doubtless he means that Berlin is like Chicago.

Duke Abruzzi has won a prize as a tango dancer, but his artier was not Miss Katherine Blkins.

A Change.
Before I married her she was Most pensive, I'll allow.
But she's not pensive any more, She is expensive now.

STATE PRESS.
Coming to it.
Antigo is considering adopting the commission plan of city government. Rhineclander could adopt the system with practical benefit.—Rhineclander News.

Put in the Shade.
Those people who worried a year ago about Mr. Bryan were going to be a bigger man than Mr. Wilson, are now looking with a microscope to find where Mr. Bryan is.—Sheboygan Journal.

No Illustrations Wanted.
Reports give the information that Mrs. Pankhurst says she only wants to explain militancy as a movement. Everybody hopes that she won't have any working models of its methods in tow.—Milwaukee News.

Must Get at Root.
There is a great deal of talk and newspaper comment about eugenic marriages. No one disputes that there are a vast number of marriages allowed that should never have taken place but there is a very grave question whether the law can improve the situation. The only way that will reach the root of the matter is to raise the standard of personal morality and conscience to the plane where individuals will refuse to perpetuate diseases they find a curse to themselves.—Marquette Eagle Star.

Why Bullet Ousts Ballot.
When John Dero was elected president of Mexico he received 19,887 votes in the whole country, which has a population about six times as large as Wisconsin has. Yet a single county in Wisconsin last year cast 27,867 votes for Wilson, 18,281 for Taft, 5,739 for Roosevelt, and 19,875 for Debs. The Debs vote in that county lacked only eight of being as large as Madero received in all of Mexico. That is Milwaukee county, including the city of Milwaukee. An election in Mexico never has been a fair expression of public opinion in that country.—Superior Telegram.

NINE CARS START ON BIG BOOSTERS' TOUR

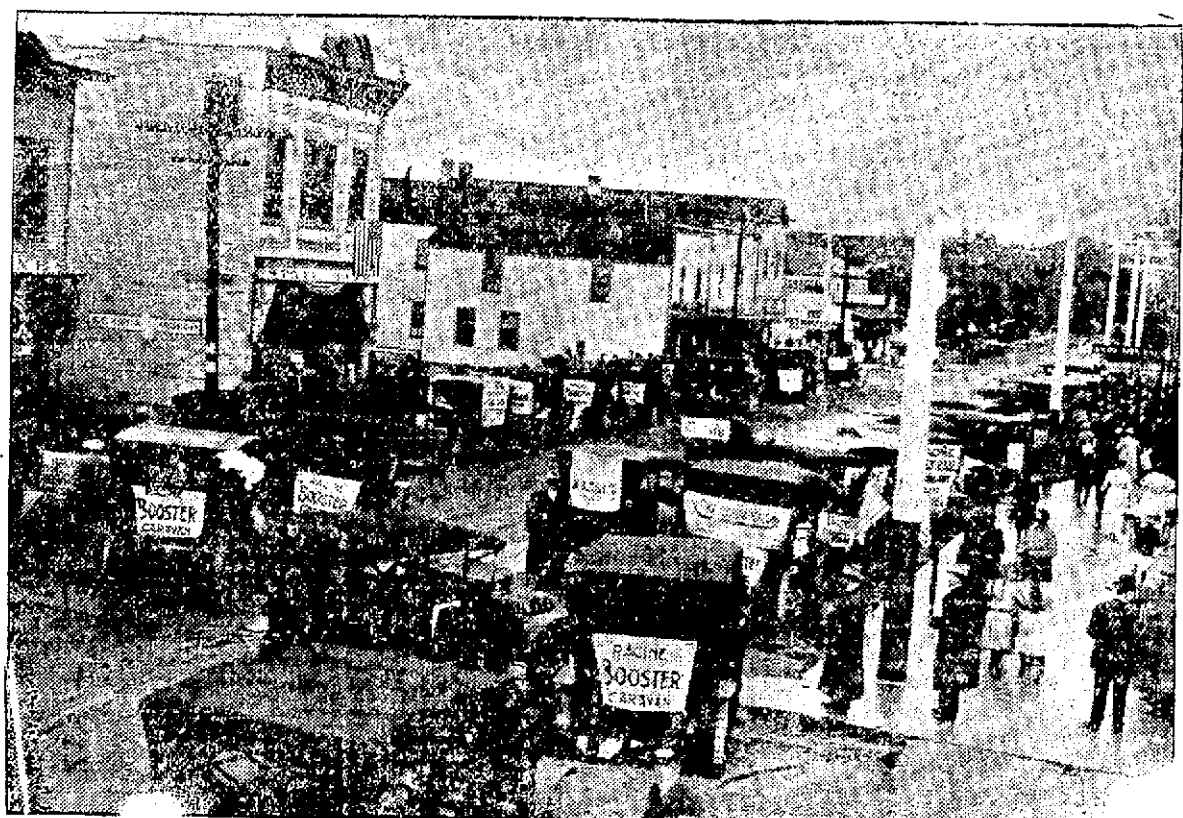

THIRTY-SIX JANESVILLE BOOSTERS INCLUDING MOOSE BAND OF TEN PIECES IN PARTY.

Will Cover Seventy Miles Today, Visiting Edgerton, Fort Atkinson and Whitewater.

Thirty-six Janesville boosters including the Moose band of ten pieces departed this morning at 10:30 on their first day's trip, with expectations of covering seventy miles before returning to this city. It took nine cars to carry the party. The cold weather probably prevented many more from joining the crowd this morning, and it is hoped that tomorrow the weather will favor a larger number than today.

The party started for Johnstown, and they will make the following towns today, stopping at Edgerton for dinner: Johnstown, Milton, Milton

The pilot car was driven by Amos Reiberg. With him was Joe Conners, Edward Amerighi and Frank E. Lane. Car No. 2, driven by James Field, had for its occupants, Will Drummond, Max Meisel and Harry Garbutt. Car No. 3, driven by Malcolm Jeffris, was occupied by Robert Bostwick, Fred Clemens, and Louis Levy. Car No. 4, driven by Wallace Nickelson, carried Paul Colvin and three band men. Car No. 5, was the Gazette advertising car, and it was driven by Frank Hayes. With him was Thomas Murphy, M. Cleveland and Fred Ehringer. William McNeil drove Car No. 6. He had with him, P. J. Mout, Harry Keating and Al Wilson. Cars No. 7 and 8 from the Kemmerer garage, carried a good share of the band men, together with E. B. Terwilliger. Car No. 9, driven by Harry H. Bliss, was occupied by Edward Kemmerer, Herbert Ford and W. Austin.

The cars were decorated with Janesville pennants and large posters. The trip was planned to begin at nine o'clock, but the delay in gathering the crowd together accounted for their late start.

The members of the party were entertained at dinner at the Hotel Carl at Edgerton, plates being laid for forty. A vote was taken to decide whether it was advisable to continue the trip to Port Atkinson and Whitewater, but only the small number of cars, and it was unanimously voted to make the full route as mapped out for today. The roads were found to be in excellent condition and the trip was proving most enjoyable.

Persons who promised to enter their cars in the tour, but who failed to report at the meeting place this morning are again asked by the management of the tour to be on hand for the run to Orfordville. Brothhead and Monroe on Thursday. The retail merchants who are especially concerned in the success of the venture should take a more active interest in the trip, is the general attitude taken by Secretary Lane and the committee in charge.

Citizens who care to enjoy the ride tomorrow and Friday are invited to be at the Amerphol shop at eight o'clock or soon after, whether they have cars or not, and transportation will be provided if it can be secured.

STRUCK AND KILLED BY A SWITCH ENGINE

Frank Alden, Jr., Meets Instant Death Near Railroad Crossing on Beloit Road.

Struck by a Chicago & Northwestern Railway switching locomotive about fifty feet from the Beloit road crossing, Frank Alden, Jr., residing at 358 South Franklin street, met instant death at about six o'clock last evening. J. M. Lee, engineer, and Harry Lucht, fireman, in charge of the engine, report that Alden walked down the embankment as they were approaching, and when the engine was about fifty feet away, too short a distance for it to be brought to a stop, he stepped in between the rails. Alden was struck by the footboard and thrown lifeless upon the embankment, the force of the blow having been sufficient to break his neck. At the point where the accident took place there was nothing to obstruct the view and prevent the unfortunate man from seeing the approaching locomotive.

Alden was twenty-eight years of age, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Alden, Sr., 258 South Franklin street. He was born in this city and had always resided here. At the time of his death he was in charge of the kraut cutting department at the Honadel Canning Company's factory.

SEALERS URGE UNIFORM STANDARDS OF MEASURE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison, Oct. 22.—Speakers at the state and city conference of weights and measures officials today urged legislation for uniformity of standards and specifications. The principle addresses were by C. C. Meal, commissioner for Minnesota and F. L. VanDyne, superintendent for Iowa.

Commissioner Meal declared the state had sufficient power to enable manufacturers to make uniform standards.

HELD A CONFERENCE WITH STATE BOARD

Mayor James A. Fathers Seeks Information With Regard to Plumbing Ordinances.

Mayor James A. Fathers was in Madison yesterday for the purpose of obtaining information on the state laws regulating plumbing which provide that every city in the first, second, and third class shall enact plumbing ordinances. He found that the plumbing code which is now being drawn up is far from completion and the cities can take no action until it is ready. As far as is known all the Janesville plumbers have taken out the required licenses, which are of three kinds, those for master plumbers, journeymen plumbers, and contracting plumbers. All these will have to be renewed January 1, and for that reason it seems no great efforts are being made to see whether all plumbers have them at the present time. Mayor Fathers also took in a portion of the state conference of sealers of weights and measures, which City Sealer Walter Helms is attending, and conferred with the members of the railway commission regarding their action in the Janesville water works case. They promised a ruling as soon as the supreme court hands down its decision in the Racine water case, which is for all practical purposes identical with the Janesville action.

SOUTH FOOT BRIDGE CLOSED TO TRAFFIC

The south foot bridge across the river on Milwaukee street was closed to traffic today as a span had to be taken out in order to permit the completion of the cofferdam for the pier of the new bridge. Good progress is being made in placing the false work for the second arch. The tramway, which is to carry concrete, has been extended out for a considerable distance. Lumber to be used for the forms is being moved to the points where it will be used. The walls and ceiling which enclosed an old cellar under the sidewalk in front of the Putnam building, were torn away today to make room for the east abutment of the bridge. Much of the stone is being used to buttress the piers.

BOY BADLY INJURED WHEN HIT BY AUTO

Twelve Year Old Carl Strunz Run Over by Big Touring Car on North Bluff Street on Tuesday.

While going to his home from school Tuesday afternoon, Carl Strunz, aged twelve years, residing at 1120 North Bluff street, was knocked down by a large touring car in front of the Baker Coal company on Bluff street, and was severely bruised, the car passing over his leg, which was crushed by the weight of the auto. Twenty-five stitches were necessary to close the gash.

The youth was passing alongside of a box car when the reckless driver swerved and hit the boy, knocked him against the side of the car and ran over his leg. After striking Strunz the guilty driver failed to stop and go to the aid of the helpless boy, but speeded up his machine and disappeared. Complaint was made to the police by the boy's father, to find the careless driver. The auto that struck Strunz was a large high-powered touring car, had no hood over the engine, and was probably a new car taken out for experimenting.

Potatoes at the present time are selling at ninety cents per bushel and the farmers of Rock county report a fair crop. When the dealers are rid of the potatoes bought early in the season at a high price and the farmers find out that it no longer pays them to hold the product for high prices and start bringing their produce to market the price will come down from its high perch. Potatoes are selling in the northern section of the state for sixty and seventy cents per bushel. The growers there were favored with an extra large crop and they are flooding the markets allowing the dealers to obtain them at a reasonable price. Janesville, Wis., Oct. 22, 1913. DEALERS PRONE TO GUESS AT WEIGHTS

Much Careless and Dishonest Use of Scales and Measures Reported by State Officers.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Oct. 22.—Careless and dishonest use of weights and measures was the subject of discussion at yesterday and today's conference of state and city sealers in the assembly chamber of the capitol. William Winder, a state sealer, declared that operation of scales by dealers is often a matter of guesswork rather than of weight. Some dealers are known to hold scales in a draught where the air affects the equilibrium. Mr. Winder, who spoke on dairy and creamery scales, said there is great ignorance in operating the Babcock test. Dr. L. A. Fischer of the national board of standards, Washington, D. C., told of the efforts of a national committee to secure uniformity of state and national laws affecting standards. Dr. Fritz Reichmann, state superintendent of weights and measures of New York, was unable to come. The place of City Sealer F. C. Hansen of Milwaukee on the program was filled by Deputy Sealer William Steinel. William Cluett, deputy sealer of Chicago, and others spoke. The first day's program involved discussion of technical points for the most part. The exhibits of manufacturers and of confiscated and model weights and measures are very extensive. The conference closes this afternoon with a paper on "The National Net Weight Container Law," by Dr. L. A. Fischer.

CUPID MAKES BAD TANGLE OVER WARRANTS AT SPARTA

City Attorney Forced to Issue Warrant on Prospective Father-in-Law.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Sparta, Wis., Oct. 22.—Z. S. Rice, city attorney of Sparta, who is to be married Saturday to Miss Olive Hemstock, was today called upon to issue a warrant for the arrest of his prospective father-in-law, David Hemstock, for violation of the ordinance requiring the weighing of coal on the city scales. Rice was game and issued the required papers. He declared he would prosecute the case to the limit. Hemstock prevented the situation becoming too embarrassing for his expected son-in-law by announcing that he would enter a plea of non-contender in justice court and then appeal to the circuit court. The case will not be reached until the prosecutor and his bride return from their honeymoon.

EXPOSITION SHOWS PROGRESS OF NEGRO

Exhibits Consist of Maps, Photographs, Models, Charts, and Products of Industrial Activity.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] New York, Oct. 22.—The exposition arranged by the negroes of the United States to show the progress made by their race during the fifty years which have elapsed since their emancipation was proclaimed by President Lincoln, was opened here today at the Twelfth Regiment Armory, Columbus Avenue and Sixty-second street. Thousands of negroes and persons of the white race visited the exposition on the opening day and it is the general verdict that the exposition is unusually interesting and creditable to the colored race. A clear picture is given of the gradual physical and intellectual development of the negroes from the days of the Pharaohs and particular stress is laid upon their marvellous development in this country and elsewhere during the past fifty years. The exhibits consist of maps, photographs, models, charts and examples of the products of the inventive genius and the industrial activity of the negroes of the United States, Haiti, Santo Domingo and Liberia. During the ten days of the exposition there will be historic pageants with many spectacular features, addresses by prominent negroes, tableaux, etc.

GROVER CLEVELAND MEMORIAL ACCEPTED

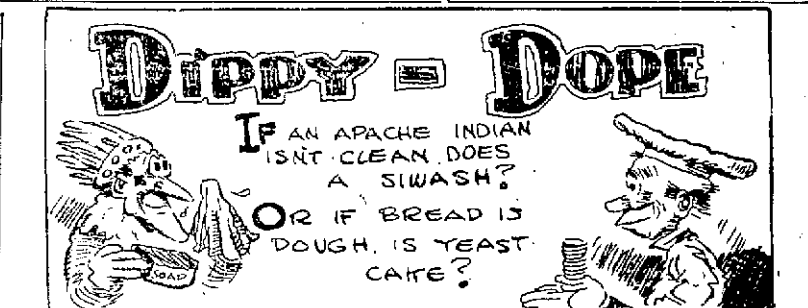

Thousands of Princeton Alumni Present at Exercises and Anniversary of Foundation.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Princeton, N. J., Oct. 22.—Thousands of graduates of Princeton University came back to their alma mater today to join with distinguished public men and educators in the dedication of the new graduate college and the presentation to the university of the Grover Cleveland Memorial Tower. The exercises were combined with the one hundred and sixty-seventh anniversary of the founding of the university. The exercises were held in the open quadrangle enclosed in the four walls of the graduate college buildings. The program was opened with a dedicatory prayer by Dr. Francis L. Patton, former president of Princeton University. Dr. Andrew Fleming West, dean of the graduate college, delivered the introductory address, taking as his subject "The Household of Knowledge." Dean West's address was followed by addresses of congratulation in behalf of some of the foremost institutions of learning in Europe and America. Among the speakers were Arthur Shipley, representing the University of Cambridge; Arthur Denis Godley, who spoke in behalf of the University of Oxford; Alois Riehl, professor in the University of Berlin; Emile Boutroux, representing the University of Paris; and Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University. The Cleveland Memorial Tower was formally presented by the chairman of the board of trustees and accepted in behalf of the university by President John Grier Hibben. The exercises concluded with an eloquent memorial address on Grover Cleveland delivered by former President William H. Taft.

The system of hand signaling, which has developed among chauffeurs, and has some value, for it seems to have been adopted by general consent all over the world. An effort has been made to improve this by making it available for night service as well as day by the invention of a signaling glove. The new glove has a battery and bell secured to it at the wrist, whereas on the back of the glove there is an electric lamp. Each of these is controlled by buttons placed on the fields of the fingers of the glove. By pressing one or the other of these buttons with the thumb of the same hand it is possible to give an audible or visible signal, or both, if it be deemed necessary.

Our school is now attended annually by almost 250 of the brightest and brainiest young people in this part of the country. Our rooms have the finest lighting, steam heating and every sanitary convenience that can add to the comfort and convenience of the student.

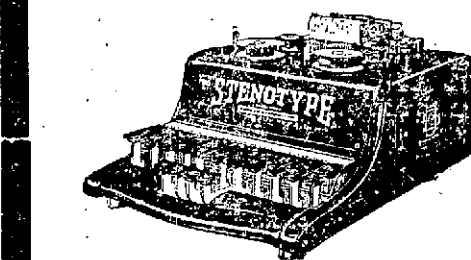

EQUIPMENT

Every mechanical modern office device has been installed for the student's assistance, including the Adding Machine, Writerpress, Mimeograph, Letter Press, Typewriter and Adding Machine combined, Billing Machines, etc.

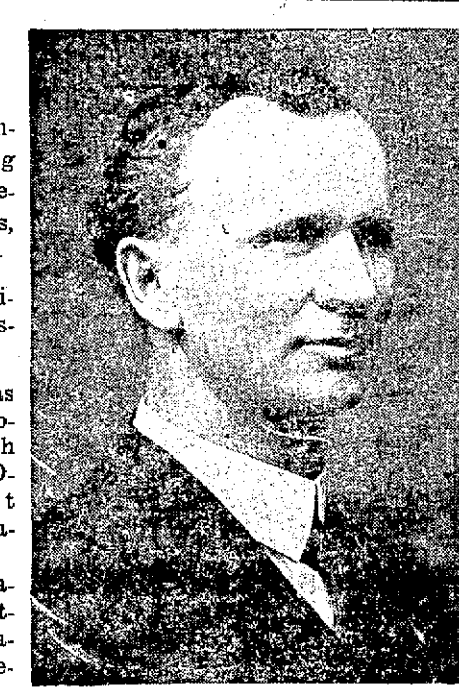

The furniture is almost entirely new and recent addition of new furniture has been made to supply the increasing attendance.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

OUR BREATHERS CLUB.

WE HAVE a new club in our neighborhood. It is an extremely informal affair—no dues, no initiation, no meeting.

All there is to it is a name and a promise. The name is "The Breathers" and the promise is that at least three times a day, and preferably much oftener, we will really breathe.

Of course that sounds perfectly absurd, but give me a few minutes and I'll try to make it less so.

How often do you breathe to the full depth of your lungs' capacity? Probably not once a week if you are an average person.

Well that failure is what we promise each other to avoid.

When that lazy, listless feeling comes over you and your work—be it office work or house work—seems to be a burden, try this remedy.

That's what we do. And though we don't advertise this remedy as a cure-all, we do feel it comes pretty near being a help.

Won't you join our club? You can do it without any fuss or feathers—simply by making our promise to yourself.

Let me give you one or two suggestions in case you do.

Breathe, of course, way down to the bottom of your lungs. While you are doing it draw the head in and back, lift your chest and stretch upwards. You can let the shoulders hang limp. After you have done this a few times try holding the breath and letting it out as slowly as possible, trying not to let the chest collapse until it is all out.

If you care for more vigorous exercises you can swing your arms, striking your chest very lightly with the tips of your fingers while you hold the breath.

Another good accompaniment to breathing is to hold the arms with the elbows crooked and the fists clenched close against the side, and as you exhale, force the arms back as if you were pulling against something.

One thing that these exercises always do for me, and I fancy for anyone else, is that when I come back into the room where I have been working, after doing them, I instantly realize how stuffy it is, and air it.

If you haven't the backbone to do these formal exercises, it will help some to remember to breathe deeply often when you are out in the open air.

And even if you do the formal exercises it will help to do this too. You can take the first exercise all but the stretching as you walk along the street, without anyone being the wiser.

An article on sub-oxygenation as the raison d'être of half our mortal ills aroused our interest in our lungs.

It pointed out that better oxygenation of the system by deep breathing would improve the complexion, chest increase the vitality, improve the appetite, digestion and circulation, and, by the pressure of the diaphragm muscle—estimated at two hundred pounds—would correct sluggishness of the bowels.

It sounds like a pretty big promise, doesn't it? But we thought it was worth trying out.

Don't you?

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have long and quite heavy hair, but there seems to be a good many short ends, that when I braid it they stick out all up and down and some are split and the braid is quite small at the end. I did wear a wire roll, but wear a hair one now.

I do not have dandruff very bad, but have some and some irritation of the scalp. I do not shampoo as often as some do, as I have to do it myself, just often enough to keep it clean.

(1) What can I do to make the ends grow out?

(2) How often is it necessary to shampoo?

(3) Do you think I need a hair tonic?

(4) I would advise you to braid the hair tightly, then take a hot iron and carefully singe the ends that stick out. This should be done once a month, a careful not to burn more than the ends.

(5) Every three or four weeks is usually often enough. Between shampoos keep the hair well brushed with a CLEAN brush. Little kerosene on the brush once or twice a week will do the hair good.

(6) No.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My face and neck are getting flabby and inclined to wrinkle. Will you please tell me what I can do? Is simple tincture of benzoin good for such a skin? If so, how is it used?

ESTELLA.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Are girls of thirteen and fourteen too young to have boy friends?

(2) Is there any harm in riding home with a boy friend from church?

(3) What kind of a dress would be pretty for a party dress for girls of thirteen and fourteen?

(4) What kind of clothes would be good taste to wear on the train?

(5) What is good to remove freckles?

(6) What is good to keep the hair from coming out?

(7) What will the winter coats be made like this winter?

(8) I like to see girls have boy friends. But don't get mixed over them, my dear little girls. I just be friends and have a good, jolly time.

(9) No.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

ALREADY, to the leavening, but here's yet in the word hereafter the making of the cake, the heating of the oven, and the baking. Nay, you must stay the cooling, too, or you may chance to burn your mouth.

—Shakespeare.

A WORD ON CAKES.

Most expert housewives have some all-round good cake which they use as a foundation for any number of kinds. For example, a simple cake with vanilla flavoring may have a chocolate frosting if baked in a square loaf or if baked in layers the filling may be varied indefinitely. Spice may be added or chocolate, making a spice cake or one layer may be spiced with fruit and one layer plain with any desired filling. A slight depression in the center of the cake when filling the pans will always result in a level cake.

Just a word to those who are yet unexperienced in the art of cake making: First of all, have your materials and utensils all ready before you begin, or in the midst you will find that you are just lacking some important ingredient. A circle of paper, even in deep layer pans, will help to remove them in shape, and in a square tin the papers are indispensable. Grease the paper well, and line the tin smoothly.

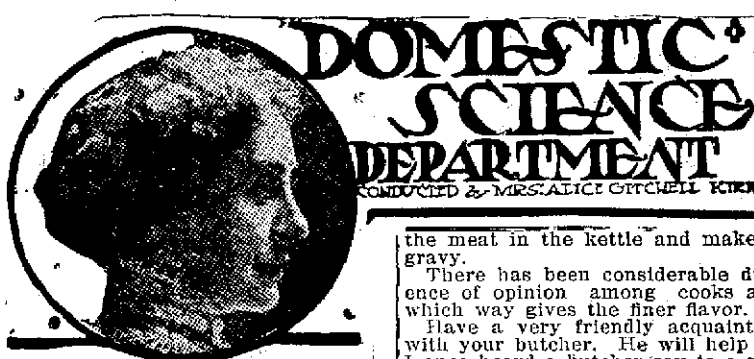

The time was when much creaming of butter and stirring of the sugar and butter together was thought the only way to make a good cake; but times have changed, and with the rush of other things, cake making must keep pace. All the ingredients, if well blended and given a good beating to make a fine grained cake, answers all purposes for every day occasions. A fair cake, good enough for any one if a frosting or filling is added, is made of three level tablespoonfuls of butter, a cup of sugar, half a cup of milk or water, two eggs, two tablespoonfuls of baking powder and a cup and three-quarters of sifted flour. The flour may vary as the thickening power of flour is often slightly variable, but a cup and a half to three-quarters is usually sufficient. Add flavoring and bake in a hot oven. A cake to be tender and light must be well beaten before putting into the tins.

Another thing worth remembering in cake making is that the thinner the consistency, if baked without failing, the more delicate it is.

Test a cake with a fresh wooden toothpick. It seems neater than using a broom straw. If you notice that the cake ticks or crackles when taken from the oven, do not remove it, but let it bake a little longer.

BUYING AND COOKING POT-ROAST; HOW TO SUCCEED

Buying meat is one thing and cooking it is another. The best meat may be ruined by an indifferent or careless cook, or a piece of meat may seem hopelessly tough and come on to the table tender and juicy, and delicious. All in knowing how and doing it.

So really, it seems that when all is said and done about marketing, that it rests entirely with the cook who cooks the meat as to its tenderness or toughness and flavor. This is only partly true.

Meat for a pot roast should be selected from that part of the animal which represents muscular activity, such as the hind-quarter, leg, rump, or shoulder. All this meat is cheaper in price and the greater in food value than tenderloin and sirloin, which is higher priced, tender under high heat, but less in value.

Quality does not necessarily mean high cost nor do the so-called choice cuts imply nutriment, for these pot roasts when properly cooked, are capable of affording more real nutriment than the expensive roasts, steaks and chops, and—yes—should also be finer in flavor.

Order meat as little as possible over the telephone, selecting just the cut and sealer that just the desired weight is given, and no more, as surely the wise housekeeping and buying.

All meat selected for pot roasts should be cooked at a low temperature. If desired, it may be first seared in a hot kettle with a piece of suet, turned several times until all juices are retained, and then the hot water added and cooked slowly. Or it may be put at once into the pot, with a small amount of water, and boiled, water, simmer, and when the water is entirely cooked out, brown the meat in the kettle and make the gravy.

There has been considerable difference of opinion among cooks as to which way gives the finer flavor.

Have a very friendly acquaintance with a butcher. He will help you. I once heard a butcher say to a woman when she was showing him just the cut she wanted:

"Where did you learn the butcher business?"

Pot Roast.

Beef, three and one-half pounds; suet, one-fourth pound; onions, one; boiling water, one cup; salt, pepper, bay leaf.

Directions—Choose a thick cut of beef from the shoulder (or many like what is called the club roast) and wipe with a damp cloth. Have the kettle hot and put in the suet and render out the fat. Remove the suet, add the onion, sliced, and cook until a light brown. Take the onions from the kettle and put in the meat; sear on one side, and then on the other. Turn once more and put the onions on the meat, adding the boiling water. Cover and simmer slowly one hour. Season with salt and pepper and continue to cook until done. If in doubt about the tenderness of the meat, rub over with a little vinegar and let stand an hour or more until well seared and brown.

The secret of a pot roast is more in the cooking than in the meat, being sure not to let it boil at any time. Have sufficient liquid in the kettle to cover the meat. The gravy may be thickened with a teaspoonful of flour after the meat is removed to the platter. Pour the gravy over the meat and serve. Potatoes may be cooked with the roast or one-half pound of sweet corn, three tablespoonfuls of vinegar, and one-half teaspoonful of cinnamon makes a spiced pot roast.

Seasonable Fruits and Vegetables.

Fruits—Oranges, grapefruit, grapes, apples, lemons.

Vegetables—Potatoes, white and sweet; Hubbard squash, white and yellow turnips, carrots, white and red cabbage, parsnips, onions, lettuce, oysterplant.

Others—Tomatoes, fancy melons, Brussels sprouts, string beans, radishes, wax beans, egg plant.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

Put nothing edible directly on the ice; see that it is in a glass or a porcelain dish.

To polish the nickel on stoves—Take cold water and add a little of enough cold water to make a paste. Apply with a cloth and when dry polish with a dry cloth. The nickel will look as bright as new.

To prevent wooden tubs or pails from getting a stain not in use, paint them with glycerine.

If you will lay in the sunlight articles that have been scorched in ironing, the scorch will disappear.

To clean a silver spoon—Mix together one generous cup of soft bread crumbs, one-fourth of a cup of melted butter, two tablespoonfuls of fine-shopped green or red peppers, one tablespoonful of fine chopped onion, one-fourth of a tablespoonful each of salt and paprika, and half a teaspoonful of powdered sweet basil. Two tablespoonfuls of fine-chopped pickles may be also added.

Sour Sandwiches—Beat six tablespoonfuls of butter till creamy, add eight chopped olives, one small chopped red pepper, two tablespoonfuls of chopped mustard, pickles, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, salt to season, and one chopped onion, mix well and spread between well-buttered slices of bread and cut into squares.

Carrot Pudding—To three well-beaten eggs add one-half cupful of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of vanilla, and one-half cupful of grated carrot. Beat well, add three cupfuls of milk, pour into a buttered pudding dish, and bake or one and one-half hours in a slow oven, setting the dish in a pan of hot water. Serve cold.
